

BlackMuse Software releases Audio Class Notes 1.0 for iPhone/iPod Touch

Published on 01/18/10

BlackMuse Software has announced Audio Class Notes 1.0 for iPhone and iPod Touch devices.

With Audio Class Notes, studying for a big test has been made much easier. It gives the ability to record any lecture and tag the file with timecoded descriptions for easy playback later. Save time by studying while walking to class or working out, anywhere you have your iPod. This app is truly a must-have for high school and college students with busy schedules.

Golden Valley, California - BlackMuse Software is proud to announce Audio Class Notes 1.0 for iPhone and iPod Touch devices. This new app gives the ability to record any lecture and tag the file with timecoded descriptions for easy playback later. Take your classroom with you with Audio Class Notes! No other application currently in the store makes recording and tagging sound files quite so easy.

Other recording apps do not have the tagging capabilities of Audio Class Notes. The tags make it extremely simple to jump right to relevant parts of the lecture. Audio Class Notes allows you to record your lectures, and tag and describe important points so you can listen to them again quickly at a later time.

Having a rough time understanding a certain concept? Tag it and hear your teacher explain it again as often as you want with just a touch! Big test coming up? Refresh your memory quickly and easily by jumping right to the explanations, without having to listen to an entire lecture.

Save time by studying while walking to class or working out, anywhere you have your iPod. This app is truly a must-have for high school and college students with busy schedules. Every lecture that goes by unrecorded is another lecture stuck on paper. Get Audio Class Notes and hear them again as they should be heard!
