

PhatWare Releases WritePad Spanish Edition 3.0

Published on 01/19/10

California based PhatWare Corporation today announced WritePad Spanish Edition 3.0 for iPhone and iPod touch. WritePad Spanish Edition offers natural handwriting recognition input in the Spanish language in addition to keyboard entry and integration with Bing Translation services. WritePad recognizes cursive, print, and mixed handwriting styles. To enter the text you can simply write with your finger on the iPhone screen in either landscape or portrait mode employing your own handwriting style.

Mountain View, CA - PhatWare Corporation, a leading provider of software products and professional services for mobile and desktop computers, announces today the immediate availability of WritePad Spanish Edition 3.0. WritePad Spanish Edition is the first iPhone product to offer natural handwriting recognition input in the Spanish language in addition to keyboard entry and integration with Bing Translation services.

"Following last week's release of WritePad for the German language, we are pleased to announce WritePad Spanish Edition" - said Serena Perley, Director of Marketing for PhatWare Corp. "It features a Spanish user interface as well as handwriting recognition and spell checker for the Spanish language."

WritePad is a text editor that incorporates advanced handwriting recognition software for text entry. WritePad recognizes cursive, print, and mixed handwriting styles. To enter the text you can simply write with your finger on the iPhone screen in either landscape or portrait mode employing your own handwriting style. The built-in HTTP server allows users to exchange WritePad text documents between two or more iPhone devices and to download files onto the desktop PC using the Internet browser. Interface to the Bing Translator, lets users translate WritePad documents to 13 supported languages. For more information about WritePad, please visit the PhatWare web site.
