

Dejal Caboodle featured in TheMacBundles

Published on 01/27/10

Dejal Systems, LLC today announced that Dejal Caboodle is available as part of TheMacBundles, a bundle of great Mac products. Caboodle is a lean, clean, snippet machine to store and organize useful tidbits of text, images, PDFs, and more. Caboodle is elegantly simple, but includes some innovative and useful features. You can arrange the items in an outline-like hierarchy, and include both structured fields and free-form text and pictures in each entry.

Portland, Oregon - Dejal Systems, LLC today announced that Dejal Caboodle, is available as part of TheMacBundles - a bundle of 12 great Mac products for just $49.95. Dejal Caboodle a useful application to collect text, images, and other content. Everyone comes across information that they want to refer to later. Maybe gifts you've received or sent, product serial numbers, recipes, directions to someone's house, a photo of your pet, or anything else.

Caboodle is a tool to help store and organize such varied bits of information. You can arrange the items in an outline-like hierarchy, and include both structured fields and free-form text and pictures in each entry, along with web links, lists, tables, PDFs, and any other kind of file as attachments.

Caboodle is elegantly simple, but includes some innovative and useful features. Every entry can include child entries. When you create a new entry within an existing one, the custom fields are inherited, allowing quickly creating content in an organized fashion. But you can also add or remove custom fields independently for each entry. Entries can be encrypted to hide your most sensitive information. They can also be searched, and the Services menu is supported to quickly add or output an entry.
