Sunrise, FL - Announcing that Wetapps, LLC, the developers of Playlist-Creator, has released the latest version of their unique playlist application. This fast and flexible app takes playlist organization to a whole new level, giving users the unlimited freedom to create, edit, rename or delete lists without syncing to iTunes. With an easy interface and fast performance, along with offering more than any other playlist app currently on the market, Playlist-Creator is bound to become a quick favorite with music lovers.

The developers created Playlist-Creator for people on the go. As busy music lovers themselves, they understood the frustration of not having or being able to create good playlists while away from the computer. There were playlist apps on the market but they were not very user-friendly and had some limitations that developers wanted to remove for their users. Mostly, they wanted to make their app look like the native iPod that people are familiar with, while giving users a ton of flexibility.

Playlist-Creator has a very easy-to-use interface. Playlists can be created, edited and saved quickly and easily. Even beginners will find it simple to get started with this app, which offers the comfortable feel and versatility of the iPod they know and love.

"This app's fast performance is no accident," says Wetapps owner Noel Duncan. "It has been developed to get users to the music as quickly as possible. That is after all, the point. Playlist editing and using other apps can even be done while music is playing, allowing for the flexibility of multi-tasking in an enjoyable way."

Developers have further increased the performance speed in this latest release, as well as incorporating some other exciting additions to their already great product:

- * Album art viewing
- * Shuffle songs
- * Scrub bar
- * Re-ordering of playlist
- * Edit, rename, reorder, delete, all while listening to music

Users can create lists on their iPod's Genius or Smart Playlists and load it into Playlist-Creator, adding even more flexibility to the app. By all accounts, Playlist-Creator is a smooth, easy app that has, thus far, impressed the music lover community. Even so, developers have plans to release a lite version of the product that will allow users to 'test drive' their application before buying.
