

TextExpander touch Integration added to Notebook, iThoughts, iType2Go

Published on 02/09/10

SmileOnMyMac today announced that TextExpander touch is now integrated in the apps Notebook, iThoughts and iType2Go. Users of these apps can expand their TextExpander snippets while typing within these apps. TextExpander touch is the iPhone version of SmileOnMyMac's customizable typing shortcut tool. To celebrate the integration, TextExpander touch is on sale for 60% off until through February 14, 2010.

San Francisco, CA - TextExpander touch, the iPhone version of SmileOnMyMac's customizable typing shortcut tool, is now integrated in the apps Notebook, iThoughts and iType2Go. Users of these apps can expand their TextExpander snippets while typing within these apps.

To celebrate the integration, SmileOnMyMac has a special sale on TextExpander touch. Through February 14, 2010, TextExpander touch is only $1.99, a 60% discount off the regular price of $4.99.

TextExpander touch integration has been added to 16 iPhone apps, including Tweetie 2, WriteRoom, Simplenote, and Twittelator. A complete list of TextExpander-integrated apps is available at the SmileOnMyMac website.

The TextExpander touch Software Development Kit (SDK), which allows iPhone developers to integrate TextExpander functionality into their applications, consists of a free TextExpander engine library and sample code.

Device Requirements:

TextExpander touch requires an iPhone or iPod touch running iPhone OS 3.0 or later.
