Mobile World Congress, Barcelona, Spain - For telecom operators and media services companies, V4x provides the next generation Social TV Apps with proven deployment capabilities, service reliability, richness of user experience, and rapid time-to-market. V4x will showcase the latest generation of tools to deliver compelling interactive video rich-media apps for mobile, web, and connected-TV at the Mobile World Congress 2010, held in Barcelona from February 15 to 18, Hall 2 booth 2E59 - 79 (French Pavilion). Visitors to the stand will see just how easily V4x can be used to create and schedule one-of-a-kind, interactive video sequences that create "must see, must click" user experiences that boost viewing and create "stickiness" and community engagement while generating revenues.

Revenue generating apps for Facebook, iPhone and smartphones

V4x offers turn-key white-label apps with WOW-effect interactive video sequences on Facebook, iPhone and smartphones, including play-along contests, polls, quizzes or sweepstakes, to grab viewers and generate leads through friendly opt-in forms, in-app purchases and "click & buy" e-commerce links.

Social TV Promos - VideoQuiz / VideoPoll

VideoQuiz & VideoPoll Apps drive fan engagement through the continual proliferation of fresh and fun interactive video sequences. With minimal editorial work and no software development, V4x participation apps leverage social networks to drive viral propagation, lead generation, and brand exposure.

Social TV Boutique

V4x is white-label service platform for telecom operators to offer marketers and interactive agencies the ability to easily launch video-boutiques with video sequences or live streaming, including "click-to-buy"/"more info" banners and companion ads, and social interaction among shoppers. V4x simplifies the production of interactive, contextual elements with its easy-to-use templates for creating synchronized links and display them in sync with video, and Twitter and Facebook integration, allowing fans to share with friends.

Social TV Play-Along Apps

V4x Social TV Apps add interactivity that extend the user experience, allowing viewers to fully participate in programs - beyond traditional programming - with interactive widgets including live, moderated chats, quizzes and polls and animated banners.
