London, UK - Announcing that iPhonky, the developers of Pidgey, are excited to announce that they have released a new game app. Players must fly Pidgey all over town, feeding him tasty bugs and keeping him safe from Vinnie, the hungry vulture. Extra points are awarded when Pidgey relieves himself on the cars and people below. This fun, simple game features cute characters and an easy gameplay that quickly becomes addictive.

Pidgey has the simplicity of Frogger and is super easy to play. Users fly Pidgey all over town, guiding him to find lots and lots of bugs to eat. The more insects ingested, the faster the pigeon goes, which is crucial to his safety. If Pidgey slows down too much, Vinnie the vulture can move in and make the bird his meal. While gliding through the airspace over town, Pidgey is bound to do what pigeons are best known for. Players get extra points when the pigeon relieves himself on the cars and people below.

All of the app's graphics and characters are cute as can be. Developers have made the interface colorful and really easy to use, believing that fun does not have to be complicated.
