

iPhone App alerts you when your stock/forex price levels are reached

Published on 04/11/10

AlertStocks 1.0 for iPhone is a Stock/Forex Investor App with Push notifications. Investors no longer have to check the stock prices every 5 minutes. With AlertStocks, investors can easily set price alerts for individual stocks and forex currencies pair. The application will then use Apple's Push Notification technology to inform the user when the price alert has been reached. The entire service runs on the iPhone providing users a all-in-one application to manage and receive their price alerts.

Singapore - AlertStocks iPhone app is the first Stock / Forex Investor iPhone App with Push notifications. With AlertStocks application, investors can easily set price alerts for individual stocks and forex currencies pair. The application will then use Apple's Push Notification technology to inform the user when the price alert has been reached.

The entire AlertStocks service runs on the iPhone providing users a all-in-one application to manage and receive their price alerts. In addition because AlertStocks uses push notification, investors eliminate messaging cost incurred from using current SMS based alert services.

"I can't believe this application did not existed until now. I no longer have to check in to my stocks every hour. Instead I just set and not worry about the price until my price level has been reached." said CEO, Ariyo Zhou, of AlertStocks.

"I believe your app is currently unique in the app store. I have been using it for a few days and it's helping me be a great investor, no matter the time limitations of my work. I've been looking for an app like this for a whole year. That for sure justifies you charging a monthly subscription fee. " said Jose, a satisfied customer of AlertStocks
