

Only two days left to get Ergonis Software products at 20% Off

Published on 04/29/10

Only two days are left to get 20% off any purchase of PopChar, KeyCue, Typinator, and SharewarePublisher. A couple of weeks ago, Ergonis Software launched a completely new web site, with a new online store, and switched to a more flexible license policy. Ergonis celebrates the relaunch with a 20% discount off any purchase before the end of April. So hurry and place your order at Ergonis' new web store now.

Hagenberg, Austria - Only two days are left to get 20% off any purchase of PopChar, KeyCue, Typinator, and SharewarePublisher. A couple of weeks ago, Ergonis Software launched a completely new web site, with a new online store, and switched to a more flexible license policy.

"After months of planning and development, we are really happy with the launch of our new website and online store which offers an easy-to-use shopping cart, support for PayPal payment, and an automatic quantity discount if you purchase more than one item. We are thrilled about the positive feedback we have received so far," said Christoph Reichenberger, CEO of Ergonis Software. "We invite all existing and new customers to share our happiness and get 20% off any purchase. All you need to do is visit our new online store before May 1st, 2010 and purchase the products you need. A coupon code will be added automatically to your shopping cart to entitle you for the discount."

With the relaunch, Ergonis also switched to a more flexible license policy. Single-user licenses now allow installation and usage of the software on two computers, such as a desktop and a laptop. New family pack licenses are a bargain for families wanting to use the products on up to five computers. Place your order before the end of April.
