Deborah Shadovitz and Adam Christianson invite all Macworld Expo-goers to join them for the 2nd Annual Mac Mingle at Jillian's on Thursday, January 17th, starting at 8:15 pm. This popular, open-to-all-badge holders party will begin immediately after the Mac Podcaster's Meetup and run until close to midnight. The Mac Mingle is your greatest opportunity to meet fellow Mac users, mingling and getting to socialize with fellow attendees, Mac programmers, Mac authors, and other cool Mac luminaries.

Deborah Shadovitz and Adam Christianson invite all Macworld Expo-goers to join them for the 2nd Annual Mac Mingle at Jillian's on Thursday, January 17th, starting at 8:15 pm. This popular, open-to-all-badge holders party will begin immediately after the Mac Podcaster's Meetup and run until close to midnight.

The Mac Mingle is your greatest opportunity to meet and get to know fellow Mac users, mingling and networking, getting to socialize with fellow attendees, Mac programmers, Mac authors, and other cool Mac luminaries. In fact, mingling has an extra reward at the Mac Mingle because Deb, Adam, and the 11 great sponsors will be giving minglers chances to win great prizes.

"One of the things people love best about the Mac Mingle is that there's no need to spend your precious expo and seminar time trying to score a ticket to it," explains the party's creator Deborah Shadovitz. "It killed me to see people losing time and worrying about their evenings, so I created this party for everyone to attend. All you need is your expo badge. Just wear it throughout the night and you're welcome."

Light hors d'oeuvres will be served. The bar will be open for all drink purchases, and Jillian's full menu is available in case you're really hungry.

Jillian's is conveniently located right across from either Moscone, on the corner of 4th and Howard Streets. You're welcome to come by at any time, whether starting with the Mac Meet, or at 8:15, or after whatever dinner or event you attend earlier.
