

Typinator 4.1 simplifies creation of text expansions with presets

Published on 08/18/10

Ergonis Software today released Typinator 4.1, a new version of their popular text expander. The new version allows to define set-specific presets for abbreviation options and speeds up the newly introduced QuickSearch function as well as the import of text files. It also improves the installation and upgrade experience, solves a problem with composing Gmail messages in Firefox and improves compatibility with certain 3rd party apps like Mail, aMSN, Kindle for Mac, and others.

Hagenberg, Austria - Ergonis Software today announced the release and immediate availability of Typinator 4.1, a new version of their popular text expander. The new version allows to define set-specific presets for abbreviation options and speeds up the newly introduced QuickSearch function as well as the import of text files.

Typinator 4.1 also improves the installation and upgrade experience by allowing to skip one particular version in the automatic update check and by displaying a more prominent warning when a new version is not covered by the current license. Furthermore, the new release solves a problem with composing Gmail messages in Firefox and improves compatibility with certain 3rd party apps like Mail, aMSN, Kindle for Mac, and others.

"The new presets simplify the interactive creation of new abbreviations and save you quite a few clicks when the abbreviations within a set share the same options. Just define the most likely options as the default options, and Typinator automatically applies them to newly created abbreviations whenever possible," said Gunther Blaschek, CTO of Ergonis Software.

Typinator is a powerful, yet elegantly simple solution that works across all applications. It detects specific sequences of typed characters and automatically replaces them with text snippets, graphics, URLs, dates and special characters.

For business users, Typinator leads to a layer of operational consistency and productivity across heterogeneous applications. A standard customer service response, a signature image on an email, a clause in a contract - each of these can be inserted in any application with just a couple of keystrokes. For technical users, Typinator automates typing of code and the implementation of documentation standards.
