

Mouseposé 3: Three Wishes Granted

Published on 03/02/08

Mouseposé is an essential tool for everyone doing presentations, trainings or demos and those individuals with huge and high resolution displays. Mouseposé 3 fulfills three wishes many users had: the audience now not only sees the mouse clicks but also hears them, the window beneath the cursor is highlighted when the mouse hovers over it and the Family License allows the use of Mouseposé on up to 5 computers owned by the same household.

Munich, Germany - March 3, 2008 - Mouseposé 3 fulfills three wishes many users had: the audience now not only sees the mouse clicks but also hears them, the window beneath the cursor is highlighted when the mouse hovers over it and the Family License allows the use of Mouseposé on up to 5 computers owned by the same household.

Hear the Mouse Clicks:

Mouseposé does a good job at visualising mouse keys so that the audience can see what the speaker is doing. Mouseposé 3 now also makes a sound when a mouse button is pressed, so that the audience also hears what's going on. This leads to a much richer experience. In addition to that, Mouseposé 3 also has a nicer click animation and the user can choose a different color for the right mouse key.

Window highlighting:

Mouseposé is very useful for narrowing down the focus of the audience on a very specific detail. But often the detail is in the context of a window, so Mouseposé 3 can now automatically expand the focus to include the window when the mouse is hovering over it for a certain time. This way, the audience is also aware of the larger context.

Family License:

Many people wanted to purchase a license that would allow them to use Mouseposé on their desktop and notebook computers simultaneously. With the Family License, a user can install Mouseposé 3 on up to 5 computers in the private household.

Availability and Pricing:

Mouseposé 3 is now available for download from <http://boinx.com/download>. Built-in assistants guide the user through the process of obtaining a valid license key. The update from Mouseposé 2 is free of charge. New single user licenses are available for USD 16.95. About Mouseposé:

Mouseposé is an essential tool for everyone doing presentations, trainings or demos and those individuals with huge and high resolution displays. If turned on, it dims the screen and puts a spotlight on the area around the mouse pointer, easily guiding the audiences attention to an area of interest and helping to quickly locate the mouse pointer. Ryan J. Bonell wrote for MacZealots.com: "Mouseposé is the poster child for Macintosh shareware. Mouseposé not only fills a niche, but it does exactly what it intends to without any unnecessary clutter."
