

Public Speakers Take iPad To The Podium With Promptster

Published on 09/14/10

Independent app developer Dante Varnado Moore today announces Promptster, a professional public speaking app designed specifically for the iPad. Promptster is a teleprompter that smoothly scrolls easily readable text for audible presentations. It is the ideal app for practicing and delivering public speeches, lectures, and sermons. Promptster can also be used for podcasts or for any scenario that requires a speaker to communicate with an audience using notes or a script.

Burlington, New Jersey - Independent app developer Dante Varnado Moore today announces Promptster(TM), a professional public speaking app designed specifically for the iPad. Promptster(TM) is a teleprompter that smoothly scrolls easily readable text for audible presentations. It is the ideal app for practicing and delivering public speeches, lectures, and sermons. Promptster(TM) can also be used for podcasts or for any scenario that requires a speaker to communicate with an audience using notes or a script.

Promptster(TM) works in both landscape and portrait view and has two modes: 'Edit' mode for writing speeches and 'Prompt' mode for delivering them.

In 'Edit' mode users can write and edit documents or import .txt documents from popular word processors like Microsoft Word or Apple Pages via iTunes file sharing. Users can also copy-n-paste content from email or from any app on the iPad that contains text.

In 'Prompt' mode users can scroll text at variable speeds, adjust the speed and font size on the fly, and tap to start and pause scrolling text at anytime all while tracking elapsed time. Promptster(TM) is the ultimate teleprompter for the iPad.

Promptster(TM) is available in two versions: Promptster LE(TM) which includes all of the aforementioned features; and Promptster Pro(TM) which has the added convenience of a built in audio recorder.

With Promptster Pro(TM) users can:

- * Record practice sessions or live presentations
- * Hear their speech the way others do
- * Improve their speaking skills by listening to recorded sessions to identify areas that need improvement
- * Record multiple takes of a speech for comparison
- * Transfer recorded audio files to a Mac or PC using iTunes file sharing

Both Versions Include The Following Features:

- * Create and edit documents
- * Import .txt documents from popular word processors like MS Word and Apple Pages
- * Scroll text at variable speeds
- * Tap to start or pause scrolling
- * Track elapsed time
- * Increase or decrease scrolling speed on the fly
- * Increase or decrease font size on the fly
- * Store all discourses in one app
- * Share speech via email
- * Export speech via iTunes file sharing

Device Requirements:

- * Compatible with iPad
- * Requires iPhone OS 3.2 or later

* 2.5 MB

What People are saying:

"Apps like this one really do make the iPad a good business productivity tool." - iPadDaily

When you first launch the app, the brilliance of the design will become apparent to you almost immediately as you will be confronted with a fantastic looking application." - iPad-Application-Reviews

"Wonderful - As a teacher, I've used teleprompters on the Mac for news broadcasts and to test students' fluency. Now that Promptster has added audio recording, I'm in heaven. Works wonderfully. Now I can give my iPad to a student with a passage, have them practice, and I can go back and listen to their progress (I can also email recordings to parents) ... Keep up the good work. I'd have paid double!" - Howard Johnston
