

Geekbench 2.0 Released

Published on 03/08/07

Primate Labs announced today the availability of Geekbench 2.0, an update to their cross-platform processor and memory benchmark.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Primate Labs announced today the availability of Geekbench 2.0, an update to their cross-platform processor and memory benchmark.

Geekbench 2.0 contains a number of significant new features, including new and improved benchmarks that emulate real-world application use, a new graphical user interface that makes running and interpreting benchmarks simple, and an improved online result browser that enables users to manage and share benchmark results online.

Geekbench costs $20, and is available as a full-featured trial download for both Mac OS X and Windows.

Primate Labs Website:
<http://www.primatelabs.ca/>

Geekbench Website:
<http://www.primatelabs.ca/geekbench/>

Geekbench Result Browser:
<http://browse.geekbench.ca/>

Primate Labs is a privately-held software company based in Waterloo, Ontario.

###

Link To Article: <https://prmac.com/release-id-166.htm>
