Grantwood Technology, LLC today announced the release of the tuneband(TM) for iPod nano, an armband product designed to comfortably secure the iPod nano in place during exercise, including Nike+iPod compatibility. The tuneband(TM) is compatible with all generations of the iPod nano, and the current 3rd generation model has skins available in eight colors.

Middleburg, Ohio - Grantwood Technology, LLC today announced the release of the tuneband(TM) for iPod nano, an armband product designed to comfortably secure the iPod nano in place during exercise, including Nike+iPod compatibility.

Each tuneband(TM) consists of a comfortable and flexible armband strap that can accommodate both large and small arms, a durable silicone skin that allows access to all ports on the iPod nano, and a low-tack, cut-and-peel screen protector that helps guard against smudges, moisture, and daily wear-and-tear. The tuneband(TM) is fully compatible with the Nike+iPod Sport Kit, allowing runners and walkers to enjoy this workout companion.

The tuneband(TM) is compatible with all generations of the iPod nano(R), and the current 3rd generation model has skins available in eight colors: black, gray, navy blue, neon green, pink, purple, red, and teal blue. The tuneband for previous iPod nano(R) models has skins available in black only. The colors match those of the Shoe Pouch(TM), another product from Grantwood Technology that allows runners and walkers to attach the sensor from the Nike+iPod Sport Kit to the outside of their favorite shoe.

The tuneband(TM) retails for $14.99 USD is available at their website. A special bundle comprised of the tuneband(TM) and Shoe Pouch(TM) is also available at. For more information, please visit Grantwood Technology's website.
