

Final Cut Server and Burning Blu-ray disks at lafcug, April 30

Published on 04/27/08

The next meeting of the Los Angeles Final Cut pro User Group (lafcpug) will be Wednesday, April 30, 2008 beginning at 6:45PM - at the Gallery Theater in East Hollywood, California. Apple's Luke Tristram will debut the recently released Final Cut Server. Adobe will show how to create and burn a Blu-ray DVD using Encore. Philip Hodgetts will debut The Assistant Editor. Plus, Stump The Gurus, Show and Tell and more.

Los Angeles, CA - The next meeting of the Los Angeles Final Cut Pro User Group (lafcpug) will be Wednesday, April 30, 2008 beginning at 6:45 PM at the Gallery Theater in East Hollywood, California.

Scheduled to present will be Apple's Luke Tristram who will give us the Los Angeles debut of the the recently released Final Cut Server. Also, Adobe will show how to create and burn a Blu-ray DVD using Encore. Philip Hodgetts will debut what may be the scariest "editing" tool you will ever see, The Assistant Editor. Plus, Stump The Gurus, Show and Tells and of course, World Famous Raffle.

A $5.00 donation will be requested at the door. Doors open at 6PM. lafcug meetings are open to the public. First come, best seat. For complete details and directions to the Gallery theater, visit the lafcug web site.

Los Angeles Final Cut Pro User Group:
<http://www.lafcpug.org/>

Schedule:
http://www.lafcpug.org/user_schedule.html

Founded in 2000, the Los Angeles Final Cut Pro User Group (lafcpug) is the largest UG in the world dedicated to the education and use of Apple Inc's Pro Applications. In addition, lafcug co-produces the Annual FCPUG SuperMeets at both NAB and Macworld.

###

Michael Horton
President
818-717-0758

michaelh@macconnect.com

Link To Article: <https://prmac.com/release-id-1887.htm>
