Vienna, Austria - Freeridecoding introduces BurnAgain FS, a public beta of its new CD/DVD multisession burning application for MacOSX.

Usually you cannot burn to a DVD more than once. Usually you cannot burn to a CD more than once without creating a volume for each session burned. With BurnAgain FS you can do both, and even more:

BurnAgain FS makes it possible to change the content of a data CD or DVD simply using the Finder. With BurnAgain FS the user can re-mount the disk like a harddisk volume and add files, remove files, even edit and change files several times. When finished, changes are simply burned to the media.

This can be done several times with CDR, CDRW, DVD+RW and DVD-RW, without erasing, until the media is full. The title of the disk can be changed prior to each burn.
