Los Angeles, California - iSkysoft Studio, a leading developer of multimedia software, today unveils its upgraded SyncPod for Mac. This comprehensive upgrade aims at revolutionizing the way Mac users to backup and share multimedia files (music, TV shows, and audiobook, videos, pictures, PDF and ePub e-books) among Mac, iPod, iPad and iPhone. New impressive interface facilitates drag and drop file transfer, making SyncPod for Mac the easiest tool to use.

The existing feature of automatically converting video & audio files to Apple devices-compatible formats and the new feature of converting DVD movies to Apple devices make SyncPod for Mac indispensable media software for Mac users. Apart from the basic features - backup device content to Mac and transfer multimedia files from Mac to Apple devices, the upgraded SyncPod for Mac brings a slew of new features, which could make your multimedia life more enjoyable.

The upgraded SyncPod for Mac comes with more user-friendly features. The two side-by-side iTunes-like windows enable users clearly to see the files on Mac and devices respectively. And the duplicate content could be hidden, helping you find missing items easily. Easy drag and drop could make transferring multimedia files between apple devices and Mac as easy as turning your hand over.

Apart from its support of transferring pictures, videos & audios, the upgraded SyncPod for Mac can transfer more multimedia files, like audiobook, PDF and ePub e-books, to/from Mac. What's more, besides converting videos and audios to Apple devices-compatible format, now the upgraded SyncPod for Mac is able to convert DVD movies and transfer them to Apple devices.

Pricing and System Requirements:

SyncPod for Mac is priced at $39.00 (USD) for single user license. SyncPod for Mac requires Intel-based Mac (32-bit or 64-bit, Mac OS X 10.5 Leopard or 10.6 Snow Leopard).
