

Webinar: Build an Online Survey System with FileMaker

Published on 07/07/08

Online Survey Systems are extremely effective ways to gather data. Surveys can be used to rate the quality of service provided by a company, used in scientific testing, or to help companies gather important data to be used on product innovation. In this free webinar you will learn how to create a powerful online survey system with FileMaker Pro.

Richmond, VA - FMWebschool, Inc., Announces a new webinar "Build an Online Survey System with FileMaker". Have you ever filled out an online survey? Did you know that they are used on millions of websites to collect valuable information? Online Survey Systems are extremely effective ways to gather data.

Surveys can be used to rate the quality of service provided by a company, used in scientific testing, or to help companies gather important data to be used on product innovation.

In this webinar, we will teach you how to create a complete online survey system using FileMaker and PHP. The survey that you create will enable you to create yes | no questions, multiple choice questions, short answer questions and essay questions. You will then be able to visually display the and print the survey results.

The survey webinar is an hour long instructional webinar focusing on teaching you how to create real world FileMaker web applications. Attendees to this live webinar will receive a free copy of the website files and the FileMaker survey database. These files will only be available to attendees.

Devcon attendees will be able to watch us present this webinar live in person. Everyone can participate by simply enrolling and attending this exciting webinar online. Our promise to you, is to create a fully functioning survey system that you can use on your own site in 1 hour. Spaces are limited for this webinar so please register early.
