

Handoff 1.1 Adds Integration Features

Published on 04/12/11

IdeaSwarm and InfnitApps today announce an update to Handoff for iPhone, iPad, or iPod touch. Handoff 1.1 simplifies sending things from your computer's web browser to your iDevices, by using a web service to connect your desktop browser to your iOS device. Once you have the iOS app installed, all you need to do is download a browser extension or bookmarklet from the web site to get started. Version 1.1 which adds a browser extension for Firefox and integration with several iOS apps.

Bloomington, Minnesota - Handoff, which simplifies sending web pages from a computer to an iPhone, iPad, or iPod touch has been updated by IdeaSwarm and InfnitApps to version 1.1 which adds a browser extension for Firefox and integration with several iOS apps.

Handoff has been well received by the iOS community. It has been featured by Apple in their New & Noteworthy and What's Hot lists and been ranked among the top 10 iPad utility apps in the App Store. 1.1 delivers many customer requested improvements to the iOS app, including:

- * New native integration with Firefox via a new Firefox add-on
- * Open links with many other applications on iOS, including Safari (and some other web browsers), YouTube, Maps, iTunes, App Store, Articles (for Wikipedia), IMDB, Yelp and Twitter
- * Share with even more apps including Pastebot and Instapaper
- * Share links via text message on iPhone
- * View web pages in browsers other than Mobile Safari (including Atomic, Cyberspace, iCab Mobile, Mercury and 360)
- * Improved user interface that shows longer titles and makes it easier to jump to other apps

Device Requirements:

- * iPhone, iPod touch, and iPad
- * A desktop web browser
- * Requires iOS 3.0 or later
- * 5.6 MB
