

New Survey at FMPug and Chance To Win FREE DevCon 2009 Pass

Published on 08/11/08

After an absolutely fantastic FileMaker Developer Conference in Phoenix last month we want to ask for a few minutes of your time to help us plan for the coming year and to develop new programs and activities. We are also very interested in what you think about the Developer Conference. We have a lot of new members, and we want to be sure we are adequately serving them as well as continuing to serve our longer tenured members and the community at large.

Orlando, FL - After an absolutely fantastic FileMaker Developer Conference in Phoenix last month we want to ask for a few minutes of your time to help us plan for the coming year and to develop new programs and activities.

We are also very interested in what you think about the Developer Conference. We have a lot of new members, and we want to be sure we are adequately serving them as well as continuing to serve our longer tenured members and the community at large as well.

We invite everyone to take the survey using the link provided below.

 FREE DEVCON 2009 PASS TO ONE LUCKY RESPONDENT *****

After some discussion here with the Pug's we have decided to hold a bit of a competition for everyone that decides to take the survey and provide their contact information (don't worry, we will not spam you).

If you provide your contact information and take the survey (no entry for just name and email only!) you will be entered in a drawing to win a FREE Full Conference Pass to DevCon 2009.

You do not have to be an FMPug member to take part in this. We are opening this up to every person. If you have already taken the survey contact us back channel and we will make sure you are entered in the drawing.

Please be honest and frank in your responses. This way we can ensure that our future programs and development is targeted correctly. Remember, we are here because of you, for you and for the community at large. We look forward to your responses.
