

ExactCODE updates ExactScan - Award-Winning Scanning Software

Published on 10/07/08

ExactCODE GmbH is proud to announce an upgrade for its award-winning software ExactScan that makes scanning faster. ExactScan now allows the use of more than 160 integrated certified drivers for document scanners without any Mac driver support from the original manufacturer, allowing users to utilize many different scanners under Mac OS X for the first time.

Berlin, Germany - ExactCODE GmbH is proud to announce an upgrade for its award-winning software ExactScan that makes scanning faster. The newly updated software offers faster speeds under MAC OS X. It also allows the use of different scanners with TWAIN drivers due to its new TWAIN support and comes with language support for more than 20 languages.

Furthermore it has sophisticated image enhancement algorithms which can recognize automatically how the images and documents have to be cropped and de-skewed. The intelligent thresholding can help to optimize the black and white documents and together with the blank page detection can save a lot of storage space. All in all ExactScan really can live up to professional requirements.

What else is new with ExactScan 2.1?

- * Print support: make copies on your Mac using your scanner and printer
- * New option to control "Blank Page Detection" and whether to use a placeholder or delete the page
- * A sensitivity control for the "Blank Page Detection"
- * New option to reset profiles to their default settings
- * Support for more new scanner models
- * Improved scan speed for certain scanners of the built-in drivers
- * Improved support for previously supported devices

About ExactScan:

ExactScan software for paper documents allows scanning to go one step further toward an eco-friendly paperless office. The modern user interface matches well to the Mac OS X interface, utilizing a personal profile manager that allows the user to scan direct to files like PDF or TIFF and to transform the Mac into a digital copier. ExactScan comes with support for over 20 languages and works with Mac OS X 10.4 as well as with the Leopard version 10.5.

ExactScan costs 89 Euro (119 USD) and is available in ExactCODE's online store and resellers world-wide. It also received the Avison Partner Award in the category "Best Partner for Avison Software Solutions". A 14-day trial download is available.
