Kiev, Ukraine - The well-known Macintosh software developer MacPaw has announced the release of CleanMyMac 1.10.0, an update to its highly popular Macintosh disk maintenance utility.

The user interface of CleanMyMac 1.10.0 has been rewritten and now includes a simplified and better-looking welcome screen. All cleaning modules had been revised to work even more effectively and faster.

CleanMyMac 1.10.0 introduces a new Advanced Search Filter. It allows you to search through your scanned results, find particular items and either clean them solely or exclude them from the cleaning process. Moreover, CleanMyMac 1.10.0 remembers your choice and there is no need to exclude the items every time you perform a cleaning process.

In addition to Twitter, CleanMyMac 1.10.0 is now integrated with Facebook and allows to share scanning and cleanup results on Facebook or Twitter with one single button.

CleanMyMac 1.10.0 includes a new Help Window, where users can quickly and easily access the new Support Area, find answers to their questions, participate in the forum, directly contact MacPaw Customer Support and even suggest new features for CleanMyMac.

The new version of CleanMyMac includes Polish localization, addresses various bugs and other previously reported issues.

About CleanMyMac:

CleanMyMac is a complex of tools for keeping users' Macs clean, efficient and in stable operating condition. It simply and quickly maintains caches, log files, language files, and more, keeping them clean and trouble-free while providing the user intuitive control over the entire cleaning process. Besides, CleanMyMac doesn't just clean unnecessary, unwanted, damaged and corrupt files from a user's Mac, but also restores a large amount of valuable hard drive space in the process.

Compatibility and Availability:

CleanMyMac requires an Intel- or a PowerPC-based Macintosh with Mac OS X 10.4.11 or greater (including Mac OS X 10.7 Lion), around 20 MB of hard disk space, and is priced at $29.95 (USD). The application is available in English, French, Spanish, Russian, Italian, Polish and German. For complete information and a free download of CleanMyMac visit MacPaw website online.
