

PocketPharmacist delights its users - Rewarded with 4.5 star rating

Published on 09/30/11

California based Danike Inc.'s medical app, "PocketPharmacist - The Tool for Prescription Drugs & Medications", was recently ranked as the No.1 paid medical App in Apple's App Store. PocketPharmacist provides drug information summarized by a Pharmacist, a medication organizer that allows profiles to be emailed to Doctors or loved ones, and various web resources including a pill identifier. With reviews averaging 4.5 stars, PocketPharmacist is exceeding customer expectations.

Rancho Santa Margarita, California - Danike Inc.'s medical app, "PocketPharmacist - The Tool for Prescription Drugs & Medications", was recently ranked as the No.1 paid medical App in Apple's App Store. With reviews averaging 4.5 stars, PocketPharmacist is exceeding customer expectations. PocketPharmacist provides drug information summarized by a Pharmacist, a medication organizer that allows profiles to be emailed to Doctors or loved ones, and various web resources including a pill identifier.

PocketPharmacist's philosophy of "less is more" has delighted its users. Drug interactions, warnings, or side effects that rarely occur will not be listed. This allows the user to safely focus on the most important drug information rather than being forced to skim through an encyclopedia. Users have rewarded this philosophy with reviews averaging 4.5 stars. "We are thrilled with PocketPharmacist's early success. This reinforces our belief that the healthcare industry is thirsting for drug information with a point of view.", said Michael Guren, CEO, of Danike Inc.

Pillbox, PocketPharmacist's medication organizer, has been further improved in version 2.7.1, which was released on September 26th, 2011. Pillbox now stores allergy, Doctor, and medication information for multiple people. Most importantly, a Pillbox profile can be emailed to your Doctor or loved one.
