

Stack King Update and Free

Published on 12/14/11

Appy's arcade game, Stack King, has been made free and updated for all iOS devices. Stack King's update provides a new level which users create with their own images and photos, an improved scoring system and a Korean localization to an already fun stacking game where players test their hand-eye coordination as stacks wiz horizontally from side to side. Stack King requires focus and precise timing as players attempt to line up stacks in order to build a tower.

South Paris, Maine - Appy's arcade game, Stack King, has been made free and updated for all iOS devices. Stack King's update provides a new level which users create with their own images and photos, an improved scoring system and a Korean localization to an already fun stacking game where players test their hand-eye coordination as stacks wiz horizontally from side to side.

New Features:

- * Create your own level with your own images.
- * Unlock levels with friend codes.
- * Completely revamped scoring system.
- * Unlock levels through in-app purchasing.
- * Gold unlocks next normal level instead of silver.
- * Korean Localization

Stack King requires focus and precise timing as players attempt to line up stacks in order to build a tower through five stages in five unique environments. It offers a multiplayer game mode where friends or random competitors over game center can battle head-to-head. Players can use various, game changing powers to sabotage their opponent's stack. Speed, precision, and well-timed offensive tactics will propel you to the top. Rack up as many points as possible to earn achievements and ultimately a spot on the leader board.

"When we set out to create our first game we wanted to create something simple to get our feet wet. We came up with a simple and fun game mechanic and started to make a game around it. What we found was, in order to make something we could truly be proud of, we had to dive in and create the best game with that mechanic that we could. We ended up taking our simple and fun mechanic and wrapped it in exciting and diverse environments, Game Center Achievements and Leaderboards and online multiplayer. The result is Stack King; a simple and fun game that is easy to learn but takes time to master and is full of that 'one more time' addictiveness that keeps me coming back to gaming."

-Matthew Crandall, Creator of Stack King
