

iPad App Aims To Replace Paper Betting Sheets This Super Bowl

Published on 01/04/12

This NFL Playoff season, football enthusiasts can replace the Paper and Pen "Squares" betting sheets of old with the high-tech option of the Football Squares Plus App for the iPad. Squares sheets are a traditional Playoff and Super Bowl activity at viewing parties and in the office, and this app offers an interactive, paper-free solution. Football Squares Plus offers participants the use of touch to configure sheets, buy squares, filter on names, and select the winning scores.

Florence, Kentucky - This NFL Playoff season, football enthusiasts can replace the Paper and Pen "Squares" betting sheets of old with the high-tech option of the Football Squares Plus App for the iPad. Squares sheets are a traditional Playoff and Super Bowl activity at viewing parties and in the office, and this app offers an interactive, paper-free solution.

Football Squares Plus offers participants the use of touch to configure sheets, buy squares, filter on names, and select the winning scores. Copies of completed sheets may be distributed via a built-in email generator. Participants can also include a picture in each of their on-screen squares with an optional in-app purchase.

Sheets may be configured in a number of ways, including the traditional 10 X 10 grid with scores for each quarter, half, or just the final score. Advanced options include 5 X 5 grids, entire playoff match-ups instead of the standard two-team sheet, and customized scoring labels for uses.

The purchasing of squares can be enhanced with a field for the sheet maker to describe the cost of entry, as well as the prize structure. Sheet makers can password-protect the sheet to prevent unwanted changes from participants.

Users can save and retain all their sheets, and email the data file to other Football Squares Plus owners.
