

Prepare for Battle - Paper Glider vs. Gnomes for iPhone/iPad and Android

Published on 01/11/12

Garden gnomes beware... Paper Glider returns in its biggest adventure yet, and this time it's war. UK mobile games studio Neon Play has just launched their seventh game in a series which now has well over 12 million downloads. Paper Glider vs. Gnomes is an explosive, brain-teasing game which requires bombs and logic to obliterate an army of obnoxious garden gnomes. The Android version is due for release 01/12/2012.

Cirencester, United Kingdom - Top UK indie developer Neon Play has announced the release of Paper Glider vs. Gnomes, the next explosive installment in their popular Paper Glider series. With over 12 million downloads in the series so far, this fun and unique gnome smashing game is the perfect addition to the collection. It's currently live for iPhone and iPad, with the Android version being released imminently on 01/12/2012.

In Paper Glider vs. Gnomes players must jump back into the hot-seat of their paper plane. Pesky garden gnomes are threatening to take over the world with their pokey fishing rods, noisy accordions and rude attitudes.

Each paper plane that can be thrown at these cheeky gnomes is equipped with a rolling bomb, which when placed correctly, can blow those offensive ornaments to bits. However, it's not always as simple as dropping a bomb...

At the start of each level gnomes are hidden behind a unique puzzles, so exploration and experimentation is important to ensure victory. There are three stages and over 60 levels and if all gnomes are destroyed efficiently, three stars are awarded. This will have the hardcore players striving for those perfect games.

Those who want more destructive content can visit the Hot Shop which contain power-ups to aid gliders in battle. The Detonator can trigger bomb explosions and Unlimited Gliders awards the player with an endless army of bomb-dropping planes. The most popular gliders from the original titles can also be unlocked, as well as every level in the game.

It's not just the explosively gameplay that will guarantee Paper Glider vs. Gnomes players coming back for more. There are also well over 150 stars to collect and plenty of fun and quirky achievements to unlock.

The original Paper Glider was a worldwide number one game for iPhone and hit global headlines when it became the ten billionth app to be downloaded from the Apple App Store.

Oli Christie, CEO of Neon Play commented, "Paper Glider is our most popular game franchise and this game is a fantastic addition to the Paper Glider collection. It's incredibly puzzly and not as easy as it initially looks. We hope that our fans will love trying to work out how to reach the naff gnomes and revel in the explosive fun."
