FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Toronto (Ontario, Canada) - Agile Web Solutions Inc. today announced a new version of 1Passwd – the password manager with anti-phishing protection and automatic form filler for Mac OS X. The 2.4 release brings support for saving and filling Apache login screens (technically known as Basic Authentication login windows) as well as a new image based licensing system. This upgrade is free to all 1Passwd customers.

What is 1Passwd?

- * The most widely used password manager for Mac (according to MacUpdate, VersionTracker and iUseThis websites).
- * The only password manager with integrated Anti-Phishing technology.
- * Automatic form filler with support for credit cards and multiple identities.

Basic Authentication Login Windows

Basic Authentication is a simple method of user authentication supported by all popular web browsers. It is widely used in small private networks and computer devices, such as routers. 1Passwd is the first Mac Password Manager ever to support these login windows. Before 1Passwd, users would need to copy-and-paste their username and password from their "password vault" into the login window. With 1Passwd's direct browser integration, however, users can now login with a single click and share this information between all browsers. Since 1Passwd uses the keychain to store all your data, your information is secure, easy to backup, and automatically available in all browsers.

Graphical License Cards

1Passwd is also pushing other boundaries: it is the first Mac application to use Graphical License cards for registration. Using images for licenses is more natural and makes the registration process enjoyable.
