

Grantwood Technology Ships tuneband for iPhone 3G in Assorted Colors

Published on 02/05/09

Grantwood Technology, LLC today announced the release of assorted colors for tuneband for iPhone 3G, an armband product designed to comfortably secure the iPhone 3G in place during exercise, with the ability to access the screen and buttons. The tuneband armband is made with the same material as their highly acclaimed tuneband for iPhone. Each tuneband consists of a comfortable and flexible armband strap that can accommodate both large and small arms.

Middleburg Hts., Ohio - Grantwood Technology, LLC today announced the release of the tuneband(TM) for iPhone 3G, an armband product designed to comfortably secure the iPhone in place during exercise, with the ability to access the screen and buttons.

The tuneband for iPhone 3G is one of the most popular armbands sold, now we are making available six skin colors: black, cloud/clear, navy blue, pink, red, and purple.

Each tuneband consists of a comfortable and flexible armband strap that can accommodate both large and small arms. We also have extra large armbands available upon request. The rest of the package includes a durable silicone skin that allows access to all ports on the iPhone 3G, including volume, screen, camera and home button.

We also supply a low-tack, cut-and-peel screen protector that helps guard against smudges, moisture, and daily wear-and-tear. The tuneband armband is made with the same material as our highly acclaimed tuneband for iPod nano and our original tuneband for iPhone.

"The tuneband for iPhone is one of the most popular armbands available," explained Michael Banks, MD, co-founder and CEO of Grantwood Technology, LLC. "We have now added 5 more colors to the original black skin that was available."
