

Time to say "I love you" via iPhone - Valentine's day 2009

Published on 02/06/09

Young German start-up company HOT CHILI APPS today releases Valentine & Love C@rds for iPhone. February 14th is the day to show a special sign of love. On this day millions of love symbols are exchanged all around the world. Valentine & Love C@rds offer lovely designs which can be created using many different types, fonts and colors and expanded with the user's individual photos and lyrics.

Valentine & Love C@rds is the iPhone application for Valentine love greetings. In these Love C@rds offer lovely designs which can be created using many different types, fonts and colors and expanded with the user's individual photos and lyrics. Love messages can be composed in a very simple and easy way. Sizes and positions of all elements can be defined and moved simply by using two fingers. The result is an exclusive valentine-present, ready to be sent via iPhone and iPodtouch to anywhere in the world. Via mail to every Mac, PC and mobile phone.

But Valentine & Love C@rds is an application that is not only for Valentine's day: Everyone who has received one, will most likely want to have another one on his/her Wedding day, as a Thank You note or simply as a show of love without any special occasion. An individual sign of love always warms the heart. An experience created by Farid Zendagui, Director of HOT CHILI APPS, who is preparing further application designs to be uploaded with Love C@rds.

The eCard oriented application, offers multiple choices to create personalized e-cards. Their beautiful designs and various special features make the cards unique. In the Appstore you will also find Photo C@rds, Birthday C@rds, Christmas C@rds and Halloween C@rds.
