Herdecke, Germany - danholt4mac today announced a special February promotion for Calories 1.3, their nutrition tracking and analysis utility for Mac OS X. Calories will be on sale for 9 Euro (normally 15 Euro) + VAT. This special "Campaign Against Crisis" promotion is valid until February 28th, 2009.

Targeted at casual users, Calories is a perfect compliment to body building, fitness and other sports. Users may select foods from the applications database and add them to breakfast, lunch, dinner or snacking categories. Calories then calculates and displays the total consumption of calories, carbs, fat and proteins for the whole day, or for one of the categories.

Features Highlights:

- * Goals for all Nutrients
- * Ordered and Grouped Nutrients
- * Custom Foods
- * Metric Measures
- * Nutrients Reporting
- * Printing
- * Improved Search
- * Localized Date and Time
- * CSV Export
- * Automatic Updates

Calories is based on the USDA (US Department of Agriculture) Food and Nutrient Database for Dietary Studies 3.0, which offers more than 6900 different foods with more than 60 different nutrients (Calories incorporates 44 of them) for each food.

Minimum Requirements:

- * Mac OS X Version 10.5 Leopard or later
