CS Odessa Announces General Availability of ConceptDraw 7

Published on 05/27/07

Odessa, Ukraine, May 27, 2007 - CS Odessa announces the release of ConceptDraw 7, a new version of its popular vector drawing and diagramming software package. New version is a Universal Binary application with incredibly stylish user interface, enhanced usability and increased performance.

ConceptDraw 7 has a redesigned interface with customizable toolbars and well designed inspectors that make preparing of professional business graphics effortless for people who do not have advanced drawing skills. Organization charts, flowcharts, floor plans as well as network and database diagrams are just a few of the many tasks ConceptDraw 7 can easily handle.

ConceptDraw 7 adds to its extensive shape libraries new colorful objects found in the product's "Floor plan" and "Business diagrams" categories. It gives users the power to generate professional flowcharts, great looking floor plans; as well as drawing evacuation plans or wiring and telecommunication schemes.

Print mode and document printing setup has been completely redesigned to make document printing much easier. Other improvements made in ConceptDraw 7 include the selection method for measuring units from the ruler, color manipulation using a drop tool and a new extensive color palette.

"ConceptDraw application exists on the market for 8 years already and from the very beginning has been supporting both Macintosh and Windows operating systems. Our new licensing policy that allows customers to install the software on one Macintosh and one PC computer, makes it the best choice for people who work in a cross-platform environment" said Oleg Bocharnikov, Head of Product Management Department for CS Odessa.
