LittleWing Co. Ltd. today released Pinball Crystal Caliburn II for iPhone/iPad users on the App Store. Pinball Crystal Caliburn II is not a game of luck, but a game of skill which requires the player to learn some techniques in order to fully appreciate its joy. Pinball Crystal Caliburn II was designed to be a challenging game with many features. To get high scores, players should strategically decide which combination of features is most effective with the current playfield.

Toyama, Japan - Announcing that LittleWing Co. Ltd., has released an exciting new product for iPhone/iPad users today on the App Store. Pinball Crystal Caliburn II is not a game of luck, but a game of skill which requires the player to learn some techniques in order to fully appreciate its joy. Thanks to the special implementation of the ball movement following the laws of physics, the ball rolls on the playfield, accurately reflecting the player's skill in our pinball games.

Crystal Caliburn II was designed in the style of multi ball machines characterized by three dimensional ramps and fast moving balls. These machines also have strong flippers to compensate for more steeply sloped playing surfaces. Our pinball design goal in creating Crystal Caliburn II was to implement realistic ramps, and to reproduce the feeling of shooting balls up ramps at high speed. Our next goal was to have three balls in play simultaneously. There is a big difference in the techniques for keeping two and three balls going at once. Crystal Caliburn II was designed to be a challenging game with many features. To get high scores, players should strategically decide which combination of features is most effective with the current playfield.
