Brooklyn - NY - Veenix Software has announced several new features to TypeBook Creator, professional type specimen sheet/font sample printing software for Macintosh. New features include: improved error alerts during printing, batch categorization option, new category assignments for active and inactive fonts, and several interface enhancements.

Veenix TypeBook Creator allows users to easily create and print type specimen books and font sample sheets of their fonts. TypeBook Creator features precision automatic font categorization via Veenix GlyphLogic(R) technology, 16 classic page layouts, numerous layout customization options and prints both active and inactive fonts.

TypeBook Creator's built-in GlyphLogic engine analyzes fonts as they are added to the database and categorizes them into one or more of the following optically-derivative categories: Text Fonts, Serif and Flare Fonts, Sans Serif Font, Picture, Script & Thematic Fonts, Condensed and Narrow Fonts, Expanded and Wide Fonts, Monospaced Fonts, Inline & Outline Fonts, Shadow & 3D Fonts, Initial, Drop & Small Caps Fonts, Expert and Fraction Fonts, and Math & Pi Fonts.

Veenix's GlyphLogic technology has a very high degree of accuracy for Western Roman fonts and saves hundreds of hours of manually classifying fonts. TypeBook Creator's specimen sheet layouts include: full ASCII character sets, cascading point size sheets, body copy sheets, specimen briefs, typographical sizing slugs and numerous multi-font layouts.
