Published on 11/15/12

Just introduced from newMacgadgets, the new iPad Promotional Display turns the iPad 2, 3 and the new iPad 4 into a powerful marketing tool for companies and organizations looking to advertise their products and services. The iPad Promotional Display is an all acrylic base that secures to the counter-top with tamper-proof screws or clear mounting adhesive. The clear acrylic base stands up the iPad in the landscape position and secures it in place with an outer-frame and tamper-proof screws.

San Diego, California - Just introduced from newMacgadgets, the new iPad Promotional Display turns the iPad 2, 3 and the new iPad 4 into a powerful marketing tool for companies and organizations looking to advertise their products and services.

The iPad Promotional Display is an all acrylic base that secures to the counter-top with tamper-proof screws or clear mounting adhesive. The clear acrylic base stands up the iPad in the landscape position and secures it in place with an outer-frame and tamper-proof screws. Slots are provided for the charging cable, earphones and on/off switch. In addition, the clear cover offers an optional button-guard protector which is handy for apps that need to run continuously.

The Promotional Display can rotate 360 degrees to provide optimum viewing. For companies and organizations looking to take advantage of the advertising opportunities that the iPad offers this may be a product to consider. Retail is $99.95 USD and available directly from the newMacgadgets website.

NewMacgadgets also offers a full-line of iPad and iPhone accessories including new secure displays for the iPad Mini. Many of their products replicate the Apple store look and feel. As a leader in acrylic displays and other unique items, newMacgadgets has created elegant and secure solutions that work well in retail and trade-show environments.
