iFree Studio introduces Monster's Life 1.0 for iOS. Monster's Life brings players back into the pocket monster era, where players experience a new kind of pocket monster. Players enter the game choosing their own monster, each with their own technique and unique way of living. Undiscovered lands are covered with fog and players must fight their way through fog-shrouded maps to discover and collect monsters of various kinds. Players build a strong team to defeat all other players in the land.

Hong Kong, China - iFree Studio has just released one of its new popular SLG games Monster's Life; available for iOS above 4.3. Monster's Life is a large SLG mobile game based on the theme of monster battle only for the iOS system for now.

Monster's Life brings players back into the pocket monster era, where players experience a new kind of pocket monster. Players enter the game choosing their own monster; each monster has their own technique and unique way of living. The undiscovered lands are covered with fogs, you have to fight your way through fog-shrouded maps to discover and collect monsters of various kinds and to build a strong team to defeat all other players over the land.

Monster's Life is an interesting unique style of pet monster game. It brings fresh new era of pocket monster games combining, cute monsters, arena and battles. Players can create your own team of monsters, upgrade, gears...etc to make your team stronger. There are 4 different islands, and 36 different battle areas waiting for you to explore. You will meet other trainers and also wild monsters. Beat other trainers, you and your monsters will get to higher levels and you might get different items for your monster, such like claws.

If you defeat a wild monster, you can capture it with a monster ball. And do not forget to manage your manor, where you raise and nurture your monsters. There are six houses and a Life Stone; you start with Training Center, Monsters house, Warehouse and The Ancient tree. The level of other houses cannot be higher than the Ancient tree's. When you come to a specific level, you can unlock other houses.

To celebrate the Holiday season, some exiting events are being held for the Thanksgiving Holiday. Come and enjoy the pocket monster saga, and anticipate getting involved in a simulation of virtual reality world! For more details and information please visit our official website.
