Tavistock, United Kingdom - App developer Rory Buckley is happy to announce the recent version update release of Fireplace HD+ 1.1 for iPad, iPhone and iPod touch. This update compliments and progresses the app forward into the fast approaching holiday season, where the virtual fireplace is at its most popular.

Fireplace HD+ brings many characteristics of a typical Yule Log Christmas fireplace. The app was originally inspired by the original Yule Log TV channel which brought many cosy Christmas comforts with it's visually warm appearance and seasonal music. This festive comfort is carried forward in the app, as the user has the ability to either play built-in Christmas audio or listen to the Christmas radio stream (while still watching & experiencing the soothing crackle of the fireplace).

While many consider the typical 'fake' fireplace app to offer little but silly entertainment, Fireplace HD+ has been developed to offer a lot more. The vision that Rory Buckley had, was to fuse a combination of light entertainment and mix in an element of a typical relaxation app, not forgetting the extra appeal that such an app would have over the holiday season.

Noteworthy highlights in this version update include the addition of two more fireplace scenes, one being a glowing log fire and the other being a more modern romantic scene. The app has also been optimized for the iPhone 5's stunning display and works perfectly when mirrored via airplay for those who have Apple TV. Radio support also is now offered to iPhone and iPod touch users (along with iPad users), this requires a data connection.
