

Evil Twin Trivia: The Wacky New App By a Man Who Lives With His Parents

Published on 11/29/12

Evil Twin Trivia was created by a TV Game Show Producer who had an idea for a trivia app, left his career and moved in with his parents. The Game: While trapped inside a mansion by an Evil Twin, the player is faced with a series of questions: "Who suffered a bad case of bird flu (into his face while riding a roller coaster)?" Outsmart the Evil Twin and avoid the lies to escape the maze of questions. Evil Twin Trivia is the first app released by the new company, Odds and Apps, LLC.

Gilbert, Arizona - Odds and Apps is thrilled to announce that Evil Twin Trivia is available on the App Store. Created by a TV Game Show Producer who had an idea for a trivia app, left his career and moved in with his parents. Originally released October 4, 2012, Odds and Apps has quietly been making changes and up-dates before today's official announcement of the new iOS trivia game.

Question: If Rocky Balboa literally had the eyes of a tiger, what would be the most likely side effect?

Evil Twin Trivia was designed with a new format for playing trivia. If The Price is Right and the movie, Labyrinth, had a baby that grew up and created trivia, this app may have been the result. Trapped inside a Mansion, the player must avoid every lie to escape the Evil Twin in a maze of questions.

Each Mansion has 7 rounds. Round 1 contains 1 trivia question; Round 2 contains 2 questions and so on. The player is told at the end of each round if their answers are correct. If the player was fooled by the Evil Twin, they will be challenged to play the round again. Stuck on a question? Spot the lie with the "HONEST EYE". Selecting "HONEST EYE" will reveal the Evil Twin and the correct answer. 5 are included with the game.

"I'm a huge trivia fan," explains the 33 year-old, founder of Odds and Apps. "While exploring the current apps, I noticed a creative void in the trivia world." In February 2012, he decided to abandon his career, move in with his parents and fill this void. With the determination of an Olympian and reading level of a 4th grader, he went to work.
