

Children's Spirit Animal Cards Provides Kids with Life Guidance

Published on 12/19/12

Based on the work of renowned author and teacher Dr. Steven Farmer, Children's Spirit Animal Cards from Satiama provides kids with full-screen animal imagery, engaging music, and an age-appropriate message from each animal to help them build core values and foster a lifelong connection to Mother Earth. This inspiring new app provides children with daily guidance, inner development and a sense of connection with nature. It is available as a universal app for iPhone and iPad.

Cupertino, California - Parents and educators who want to give kids an inspirational daily dose of gentle guidance that includes themes of love, respect, self-appreciation, trusting inner guidance, cooperation with others and connection with nature can now download the remarkable new iPhone and iPad app Children's Spirit Animal Cards. The app features 24 gorgeous animal wisdom cards, which are drawn when their mobile device is shaken.

Each wisdom card offers children a heartwarming, nourishing and uplifting message that is both memorable and easily integrated into daily life. Infants and toddlers will find the vivid, full-screen animal imagery captivating, while older children will also enjoy reading the pop-up messages from the animals.

Developed by Satiama, LLC, and available in hard copy at Satiama.com, the visually stunning Children's Spirit Animal Cards app is based on the work of internationally-renowned author and teacher Dr. Steven Farmer. The app also features delightful, age-appropriate musical accompaniment by Dr. Farmer.

"Children's Spirit Animal Cards are designed to tap into a child's natural openness and talent for learning, inspire them with an awareness and appreciation of the powerful, innate inner life that is their birthright, and help them establish a connection with nature that will support them for a lifetime," commented Dr. Farmer. "Indeed, there are those who feel that technology is taking our children away from the eternal wisdom that is rooted in Mother Earth. And while that may be true in some cases, this app is living proof that technology, when developed with awareness and in co-creation with nature instead of against it, can be used to help children grow and develop with love, integrity, wisdom, understanding and tolerance - all the things that our world desperately needs; perhaps now more than ever before."

Children's Spirit Animal Cards, the inspiring new app that provides children with daily guidance, inner development and a sense of connection with nature, is available now on iTunes as a universal app for iPhone and iPad.
