FuzzyCube Software is the brain child of a mad scientist with a passion for making games. In an experiment gone wrong, an explosion nearly destroyed his laboratory. From that was born the Fuzzy Cubes! At first he thought they were odd creatures. After testing with high dosages of caffeine, light flicker and maze testing, he began to notice a high degree of creativity and gaming prowess. Soon he had an army of game designing Fuzzies and FuzzyCube

Software was born. On a more serious note, we are a few guys who have worked on AAA titles such as Age of Mythology, Age of Empires 3, and most recently Halo Wars. We love what the iPhone can do and look forward to making cool stuff for everyone to play and use.
