Melbourne, Australia - Funky Squid Games today announces that their first game, Syncroz - Connect Free 1.01, is now available in the App Store for all iOS devices, and shortly in Google Play, Amazon, and Barnes & Noble App stores for Android smartphones and tablets. Syncroz is a simple yet addictive and challenging puzzle connection game that will let players attempt to connect up various matching nodes without breaking their connectors.

In Syncroz, players will be able to solve up to 300 free puzzles by joining the correct matching nodes with the same colors and shapes to fill the board with the connectors. "But watch out - the connectors will break and make weird sounds if they cross or overlap!" said Anthony Buchalka, co-director of Funky Squid Games.

"We're very proud of our first game Syncroz, and we're sure players of all ages will enjoy this surprisingly addictive puzzle game" said Buchalka. "We wanted to give our players different experiences and options when playing the game so we created two exciting game modes for Syncroz: the Classic mode where the players can solve the puzzles while relaxing and the Time Attack mode where players can compete with others or race against the clock to solve as many puzzles as they can," said Buchalka.
