Published on 01/21/13

Pixeljam Games introduces Potatoman Seeks the Troof 1.0 for Mac OSX. This challenging and surreal potatosophical platformer is now available in the Mac App Store, from the creators of Dino Run and Gamma Bros. Players make their way through dry deserts, mysterious forests, busy cities, the tallest mountains and ultimately through their innermost consciousness in search of the ultimate answer.

Asheville, North Carolina - Potatoman Seeks the Troof 1.0 is a challenging potatosophical platforming adventure from Pixeljam, the creators of Dino Run and Gamma Bros. Make your way through dry deserts, mysterious forests, busy cities, the tallest mountains and ultimately through your innermost consciousness in search of the ultimate answer! Go forward, seek, and discover The Troof!

Feature Highlights:

- * A short-form, story-driven experience with extremely challenging and rewarding gameplay
- * A bounty of colorful deaths
- * The meaning of (Potatoman's) Life

Accolades:

"Potatoman will delight, surprise, and challenge you. I had so much fun playing through his little adventure, and I know I'll replay it many times in the future. And the ending is amazing! Definitely play all the way to the end." - James Kochalka - Creator of American Elf

"Potatoman is an awesome bite-sized platformer that is as fun as it is, well, insane." - Northerlion

"In contrast to the game's difficulty is its completely charming aesthetic and tone. Though visually minimalistic, the game is rich with character, from its level design to the actual characters you meet along the way (each with their own ideas about the nature of truth). Also, you play as a sentient potato. Not many games really have that going for them." - Indie Statik

System Requirements:

- * Requires Mac OS X 10.6 or later
- * 38.2 MB

Pricing and Availability:

Potatoman Seeks the Troof 1.0 is $2.99 USD (or equivalent amount in other currencies) and available worldwide exclusively through the Mac App Store in the Games category.
