Madrid, Spain - MiLine is an application that allows you to make free phone and video calls anywhere in the world. It also provides you with messaging features to interchange messages and to share images.

With MiLine you can call and chat with anyone on the internet who has installed MiLine. Calls are free. If you try to call someone who does not have MiLine, you will be able to send an email message to invite him/her.

Moreover, if you call someone but the callee is not online, you will be able to send a voice mail message to the callee email address.

You can also call ordinary telephone numbers anywhere in the world if you sign up to a gateway service. MiLine uses the SIP protocol and is compatible with most major VoIP SIP service providers.

MiLine is one of the world's most innovative SIP-based collaborative communication platform. It offers several features, including free phone calls, voicemail, video call, instant messaging, conference calling, and secure file transferring. If the network allows it, MiLine calls have better sound quality than your regular phone.

MiLine is available in the most important platforms for mobile devices. The backend is open so it works with any other SIP softphone.

It will take you less than 30 seconds to be provisioned in MiLine. All the MiLine settings have been optimized to minimize the impact into the end users.
