Rostov-on-Don, Russian Federation - PixelOxygen today is proud to announce the release of Braids 1.0, their new braiding tutorial app developed for iPhone, iPad and iPod touch. Featuring clear, step-by-step instructions with illustrated text descriptions for each step, Braids can help anyone learn all of the most popular braids. Each step adds even more clarity in the process. In addition to the braiding lessons you can also take photos of your braids without leaving the app, arrange them nicely in the gallery and share with friends at Facebook, Twitter or via e-mail.

"When making this application our target was to fill the gap in the Apple AppStore which is missing a lot of handy applications for women." said Kirill Muzykov, owner of PixelOxygen. "We've reviewed existing braiding lessons and found them too complicated and badly illustrated. Using hair photos is not very good since they are all in one color and you don't actually see separate locks of hair. Our designer, who tried braiding each of this braid on a special head model, draws all instructions in a great understandable schematic graphic. We hope that our application will be useful and you will like it. Please contact us if you have any questions or comments. There is a button on the app about screen which you can use to send e-mail directly to us."
