Vilnius, Lithuania - iPresentee, the developer of add-ons for Apple's iWork and iLife applications, today releases Keynote Motion Themes 6.0 to be used with Apple's Keynote presentation software. iPresentee presents five new Keynote themes: Old Film, Flourish Glow, Atomic Motion, Intramolecular and TV Noise. Each Keynote Motion Theme includes from fifteen to twenty six master slide layouts and high quality moving background graphics. Keynote Motion Themes contains everything to catch the eye of the audience with high-quality moving backgrounds making presentations more attractive and entertaining.

Creating the right design is the first step to a perfect presentation. The new release extends iPresentee's Keynote themes collection up to seventy seven themes. Numerous themes collection enables Keynote users to choose the perfect theme or combination of themes for any type of presentation. Keynote Motion Themes can stand alone to unify a presentation or can be mixed together with other non-motion themes to provide breakpoints.

Keynote Motion Themes offers a variety of presentation styles with coordinated fonts, colors, great backgrounds, unique bullets and picture frames. Moreover, there is no need to explore any tutorial or to learn how to use Keynote Motion Themes. Creating a presentation using Keynote Motion Themes is exactly the same as creating a presentation using the usual themes - you can add, edit, and format text; add photos or movies; and use Keynote's transitions and special effects.

Keynote Motion Themes 6.0 includes an installer to make sure the themes end up in the right place and will be displayed in Keynote's themes menu automatically. In addition iPresentee offers updated Keynote Show. Keynote Show package is most likely the best offer of add-ons for Apple's Keynote which includes 40 Keynote Themes, 37 Keynote Motion Themes, 80 Keynote Animations and 115 Keynote 3D Stuff objects for only $60.
