FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE Orlando, FL - June 21, 2007

FMPug.com, one of the foremost FileMaker-centric networking communities announced today their newest member benefit, RealTech, will officially launch June 25th, 2007 at 7pm PDT. RealTech, an FMPug sponsored list-serve is designed to help members connect with the community as a whole, to tap into the vast expertise of its growing member base and share in the collective know-how. It was surprising to learn FMPug made the RealTech announcement cloaked under a veil of mystery. Andy Gaunt, Founder of FMPug.com explains:

"FMPug has been lucky enough to secure an exclusive product release with a leading FileMaker application provider. When the deal was secured, we knew we had a match made in heaven. Coupling the product release with the official launch of RealTech presented the perfect avenue to unveil the new product and of course generate some positive buzz surrounding the launch of RealTech. The catch of course is keeping the company and product under wraps in the interim."

Andy also added, "I must admit announcing the exclusive discount extended to RealTech members who sign-up before June 25th was a fantastic bonus! RealTech has drummed-up a great deal of interest and we believe its launch will not only be exciting but will also prove to be a worthy addition to the list of FMPug benefits."
