Over a hundred different monsters dwell in Haypi Monster's six different scenes. The update features two new map scenes, a higher level cap, ice-type monsters, and even a new weather type, blizzard. Monsters of different element types can now harness the weather to their benefit.

Shanghai, China - Haypi Co., Ltd. today announced that Haypi Monster Version 1.2, their free-to-download MMORPG for iOS devices, has been submitted to the App Store Review and will soon be available for its thousands of players. The update features two new map scenes, a higher level cap, ice-type monsters, and even a new weather type, blizzard.

Players can venture into Frozen Cavern and Chaotic Swamp, the two newest Haypi Monster map areas. Frozen Cavern is home to powerful new ice-type monsters like the beautiful deer Glazelle and the agile penguin Fragician. In Frozen Cavern, players need to guard themselves against powerful monster attacks like Ice Bullets and Aurora Borealis.

Meanwhile, in the depths of Chaotic Swamp, a lethal poison lingers in the air. The monsters that dwell in Chaotic Swamp are said to be the most powerful monsters in all the game. Only the most powerful monster trainers will be able to make it out of there region in one piece.

The weather system in the game has been improved, and monsters of different element types can now harness the weather to their benefit. A fire-type monster can turn the weather scorching hot with Celestial Prayer, increasing the power of its fire attacks. An earth-type monster can summon up a sand storm, doing damage to monsters of all the other element types. These new changes add more excitement and unpredictability to game play, separating Haypi Monster from games that force its players to grind away at repetitive tasks.

Other Version 1.2 modifications include bug fixes, new items, new tasks, new Mystery Talents, and better rewards for PVP combat.
