

Tapsteroids Among the Nominees of Drago d'Oro Awards

Published on 03/19/13

Indie game developer studio, UNAgames today announces that its arcade action shooter for iOS devices, Tapsteroids, has been nominated in the "Best Independent Italian Videogame" category of the "Drago d'Oro", the Italian video game industry award established by AESVI. Tapsteroids, a fast-peaced space action shooter, is a tribute to the classic arcade games in the era of touch. The game features over 20 achievements as well as Game Center integration, four different weapons, and more.

Genova, Italy - UNAgames announces its presence among the nominees for "Drago d'Oro", the Italian award for excellence in the world of video games. Tapsteroids has been nominated in the "Best Independent Italian Videogame" category, where it will be submitted to the judgment of a technical jury and a critics jury.

The technical jury, chaired by Paul Spagnoli - Product Manager Videogame at Media World - and composed of journalists from the press, will choose the best games by genre; the jury of critics, headed by Jaime D'Alessandro - La Repubblica journalist - and comprising journalists from major news organizations (Corriere della Sera, Il Sole 24 Ore, La Stampa, Gazzetta dello Sport) and culture and showbiz personalities, will evaluate the artistic and cultural value of the nominated titles.

About DRAGO D'ORO:

"Drago d'Oro" is the Italian video game industry award established by AESVI, (Associazione Editori Sviluppatori Videogiochi Italiani), and has two prestigious partnerships with Media World, a leading consumer electronics chain in Italy, and Repubblica.it, one of the top Italian information websites.

About TAPSTEROIDS:

Tapsteroids, a fast-peaced space action shooter, is a tribute to the classic arcade games in the era of touch. The player is assigned the important task of protecting navigation routes from dangerous storms of asteroids that infest the space, ensuring the safety of all spacecraft operating in his area and landing to his space station. Featuring over 20 achievements as well as Game Center integration, Retina Display graphics, four different weapons, infinite levels for hours of gameplay, Tapsteroids will keep players entertained for a good while.
