Vilnius, Lithuania - iPresentee, the developer of add-ons for Apple's iWork and iLife applications, today releases free Keynote Countdown Timer to be used with Apple's Keynote presentation software. Keynote Countdown Timer includes three different colors countdown timer animations: white, red and green. Each Keynote Countdown Timer can countdown from 90 minutes or less.

Get audience back in their seats promptly after breaks! Countdown timer can be used to show the time before the actually presentation or meeting should start. Teachers can also use timers during classroom instruction to help students to maintain attention and ultimately to become better "time-managers". Time management is important during presentations or workshops. Presenters often have a great deal of material to cover and little time to waste.

Using countdown timers inserted into Keynote presentations can energize your audience and keep both presenter and audience attentive and time-conscious. To start with Keynote Countdown Timer is a snap. Just download, drag to the slide, set countdown time and you are ready to start. Each countdown timer can be used on any colored background. Each animation can be changed in size, rotated, increased or decreased in opacity or overlapped with one another to create extra effects.

Minimum Requirements:

- * Mac OS X 10.4.3 Tiger and later
- * Any version of Apple's Keynote
- * 230 MB Hard Drive space

Pricing and Availability:

Keynote Countdown Timer is being offered free of charge. Free add-ons are available for download at the iPresentee's website.
