Published on 07/02/07

Mireth Technology Corp. announced today a new release of NetShred X, its internet track eraser software for Mac OS X. NetShred X version 4.0 is available as a software download or on CD-ROM, starting at $24.95 (US).

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Mireth Technology Corp. has released version 4.0 of NetShred X, its easy to use internet track eraser that erases internet tracks such as cache, history and email. NetShred X runs on Mac OS X. Version 4.0 adds several advanced features including support for the latest versions of several browsers, as well as erasing site passwords when using Firefox 2.

NetShred X is easy to use internet track eraser software for Mac OS X that erases files web browsers and email programs leave behind. And like all Mireth Technology products, it was designed to be easy to use. Because internet privacy software can't be effective if it's not used, NetShred X was designed to run automatically, without user intervention. And since erasing temporary internet files can take some time, NetShred X was designed to run in the background, so using the software doesn't interfere with the user's web browsing. Most importantly, NetShred X is an effective method of permanently deleting internet tracks. This is a cleaner solution than just deleting the files, because it ensures that the data can't be recovered. This version adds the following features:

- * Support for more Web Browsers - Firefox 2, iCab 3, Shiira 2
- * Support for more Mail Programs - Thunderbird 1.5
- * Added support for erasing site passwords for Firefox 2
